INTRODUCTION

The sub-district of Koyra, within the district of Khulna, is often faced with cyclones, storm surges and other climatic stressors. Cyclone Aila in 2009, for example, caused extensive displacement in the region due to the storm surge and long-term flooding that accompanied it with over 175,000 homes being destroyed<sup>1</sup> leading to displacement of people in the area. Fourteen years on from Aila, further cases of internal displacement due to various hazard events have taken place, such as Amphan in 2020. There is limited information available on people who have been displaced due disaster in this area and their key needs and vulnerabilities.

This assessment was undertaken by IOM under the overall leadership of the Displacement Management Cluster (DMC)<sup>2</sup>, with the support of USAID’s Bureau of Humanitarian Assistance (BHA) to identify the locations, needs, and challenges of households which were displaced due to various disasters.

SUMMARY OF KEY FINDINGS

1. Disaster displaced households at Koyra can be categorized into two groups – those who currently have ownership of their homes or land where they reside and those without – however both require support to achieve durable solutions.

The key needs ranked by displaced people who are currently living in emergency or temporary housing were shelter, sanitation and health. For those living in owned or rented housing, the key needs were sanitation, shelter and water.
2. Eight per cent of displaced households lost access to safety net programmes after displacement.
3. Improved shelters, latrines and access to clean drinking water were highlighted by households that had been displaced.
4. Seventy-five per cent households living in owned and rented shelters and eighty-six per cent households residing in emergency and temporary shelters responded that there has been a major negative change in livelihood opportunities following displacement, primarily due to loss of productive assets.
5. Seventy-nine per cent of the displaced families responded that they are in need of capacity building in order to improve their livelihood conditions.
6. Fifty-five per cent of the displaced families mentioned that they did not receive support following displacement, which includes cash or in-kind support to help manage the effects of displacement.
7. Majority of the displaced population feel unsafe while using toilets and bathing spaces.

METHODOLOGY AND DATA COLLECTION

The methodology was developed based on IOM’s Displacement Tracking Matrix (DTM) methodology and was customized according to the context in Bangladesh. The study design included a primary snapshot of the number of total displaced households and their locations collected from key informant interviews (KIIs) at the union and village levels followed by an in-depth household survey conducted with a representative sample. Structured questionnaires were developed and piloted at the Union, Village and Household levels to include different perspectives and ensure that a holistic representation of long-term displacement could be deduced. Primary data collection took place between June-August 2023.

Experienced enumerators were selected and trained on the tools and data collection methodology. Enumerators commenced with the union level key informant interviews, targeting elected local government representatives such as Union Parishad Chairpersons or members of the Union Parishad where possible. The union level representatives were asked about the existence and location of people who were displaced due to disasters in their particular union.

Following the union level KIIs, all villages in the upazila were visited and village level KIIs were conducted with community representatives in order to substantiate the information received from the Union Parishad. Following this, a household level survey was conducted with a representative number of disaster displaced households in every village where people who were displaced due to disaster currently live.

During the course of the study, it became evident that displaced people identified by the Union officials and Village representatives during the KIIs can be divided roughly into two categories:

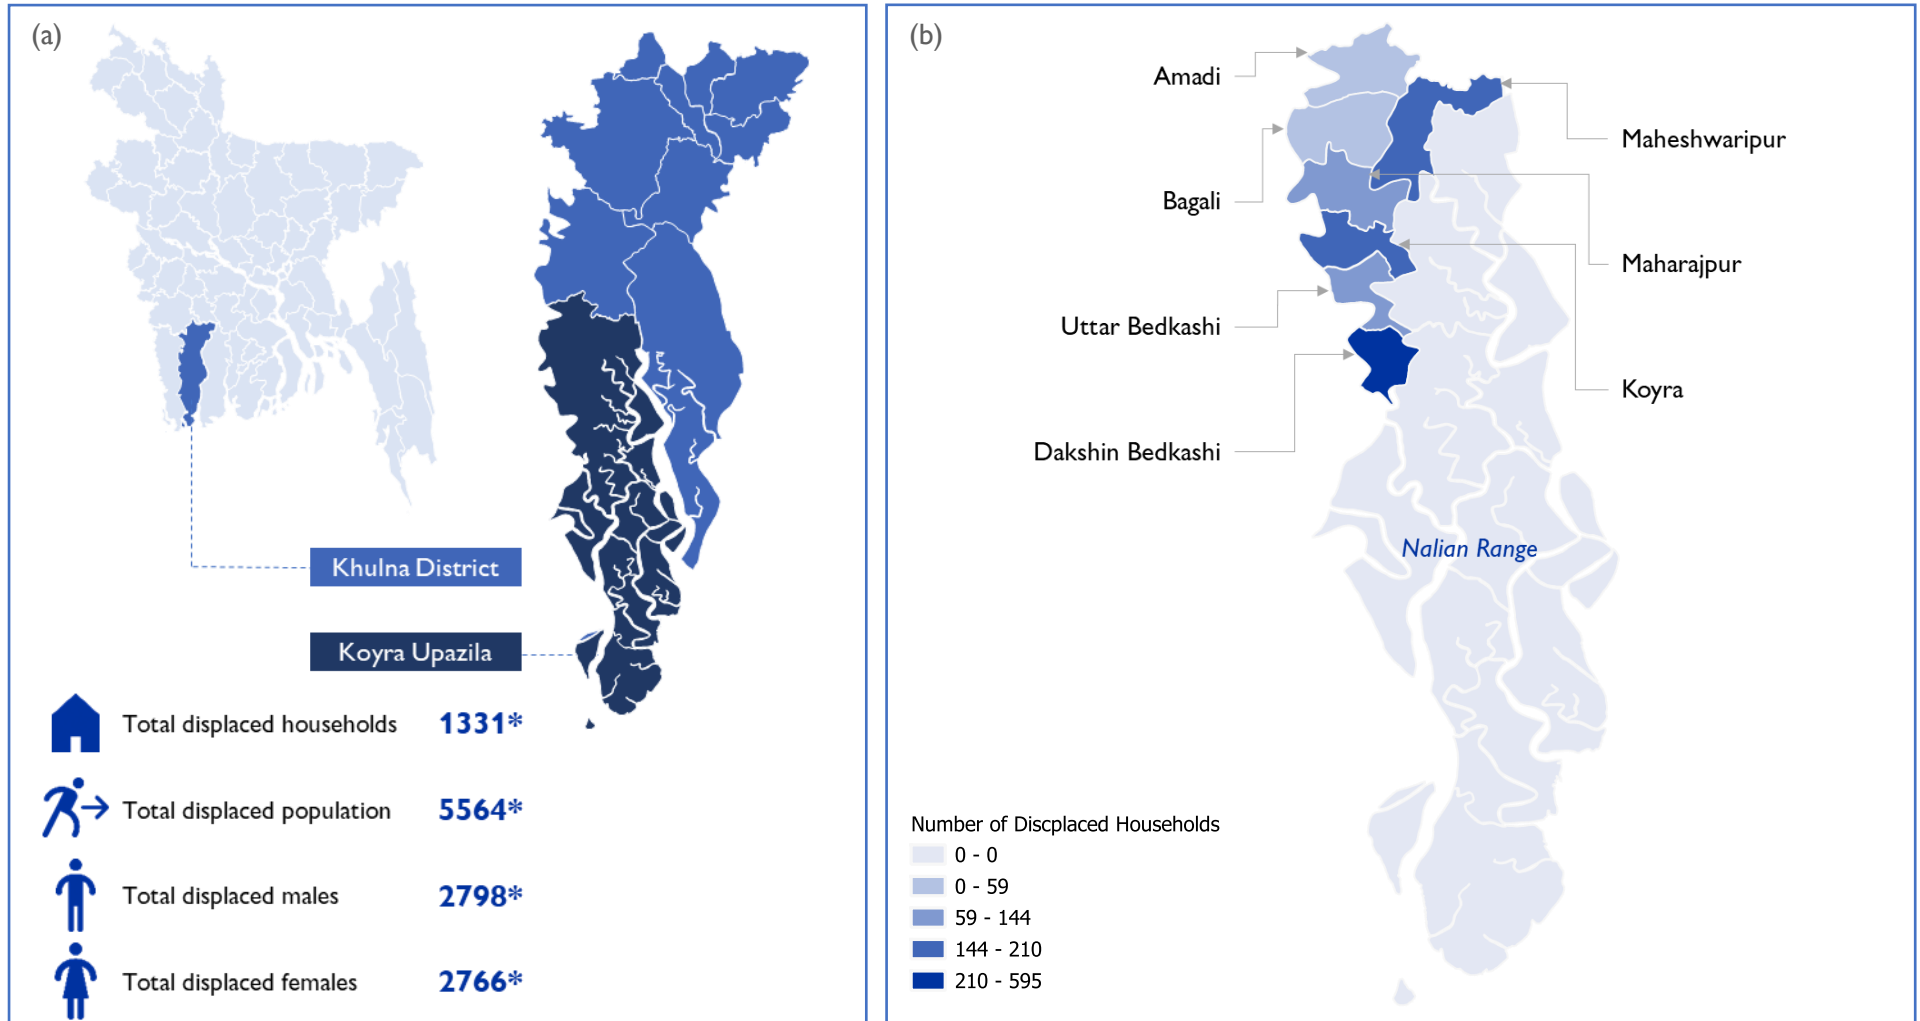

- 1) People who live in Owned and Rented Housing- People who own the land/house they are currently living on or are living in rented accommodations (and are able to pay rent)
- 2) People who live in Emergency and Temporary Housing- People who are in temporary housing (currently living in makeshift housing on government owned or private land of which they do not have legal ownership of, or in informal settlements or living with relatives, friends or family).

The study included questions regarding the displaced population’s causes of displacement, their needs and challenges related to livelihood, WASH, protection and security. Access to services and support and their intentions to return were also explored.

ASSESSED LOCATIONS – DISASTER DISPLACEMENT MAP AND OVERVIEW

Maps of a) Khulna showing location of Koyra, b) Koyra showing geographic distribution of households displaced due to disaster.

*The figures are an estimate based on the KIIs conducted at the Union level and Village level. A minimum of two KIIs were conducted at the village level and the higher number considered.

SURVEY FINDINGS

CAUSES OF DISPLACEMENT

MAJOR DISASTER EVENT(S) LEADING TO THE DISPLACEMENT

DESTINATION

Majority of the displaced households were displaced within the same village (87% households with emergency and temporary shelter and 65% households with owned and rented shelter).

TOP 5 CAUSES OF DISPLACEMENT AT PLACE OF ORIGIN

OVERALL NEEDS AND CHALLENGES

KEY CHALLENGES FACED SINCE DISPLACEMENT

The following are the top five key challenges faced by households displaced due to disaster after displacement.

KEY NEEDS

When asked to specify their needs further, the disaster displaced households mentioned the following.

NEEDS RANKING

Disaster displaced households were asked to rate their top needs according to priority. Their answers are summarized below, on a scale of One to Five, with Five being the highest need. Those in emergency and temporary shelters showed a greater need for shelter, water, and sanitation.

Owned & Rented	Emergency & Temporary
Sanitation	Shelter Support
Shelter Support	Sanitation
Water	Health
Health	Water
Food	Food
NFI (Non-Food Items)	NFI (Non-Food Items)
Protection (for an example support for elderly people, pregnant & lactating mother etc.)	Protection (for an example support for elderly people, pregnant & lactating mother etc.)

Legend

LIVELIHOOD

Overall, 75 per cent of households with owned and rented shelter and 86 per cent households with emergency and temporary shelter responded that there has been a major change in livelihood opportunities following displacement, with opportunities being negatively impacted primarily due to the loss of productive assets.

AVERAGE INCOME AND EXPENDITURE

	Owned & Rented		Emergency & Temporary
	Previous	Current	Previous	Current
Average Income (BDT/month)	7,525	8,500	7,244	7,411
Average Expenditure (BDT/month)	6,692	8,467	5,911	7,533

Average income and expenditure are stated as Bangladeshi Taka per month.

MAJOR EMPLOYMENT SECTORS OF DISPLACED HOUSEHOLDS

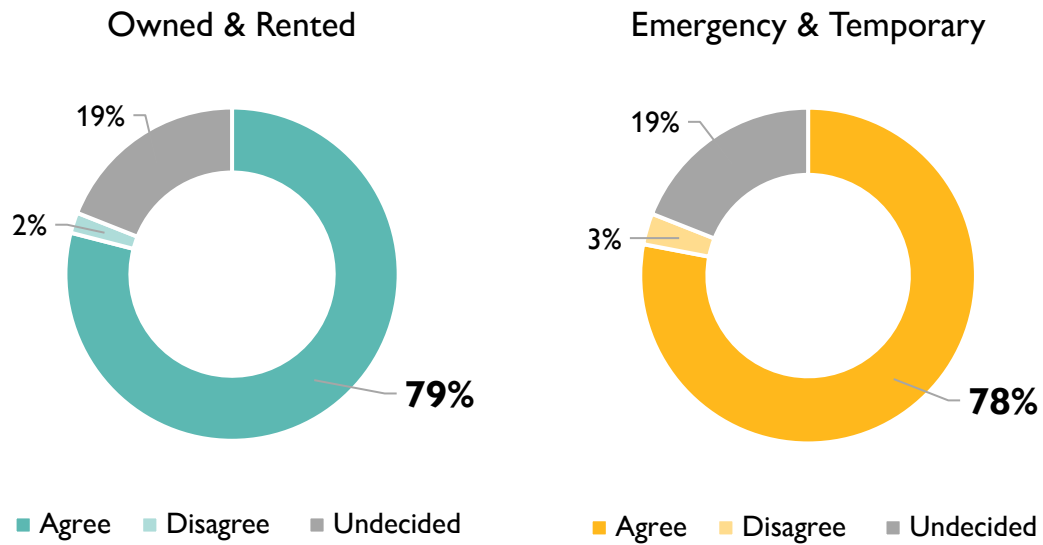

The following table shows the professions that the main earning members are currently engaged in.

NEED FOR CAPACITY BUILDING

Seventy-nine per cent of displaced households living in owned and rented shelters and seventy-eight per cent of households living in emergency and temporary households responded that they are in need of capacity building in order to improve their livelihood conditions.

ASSETS LOST DUE TO DISPLACEMENT

ACCESS TO ELECTRICITY

Three per cent households in owned and rented shelters and sixteen per cent living in emergency and temporary shelters do not have access to electricity.

MAIN CONSTRUCTION MATERIAL OF ROOF AND WALLS

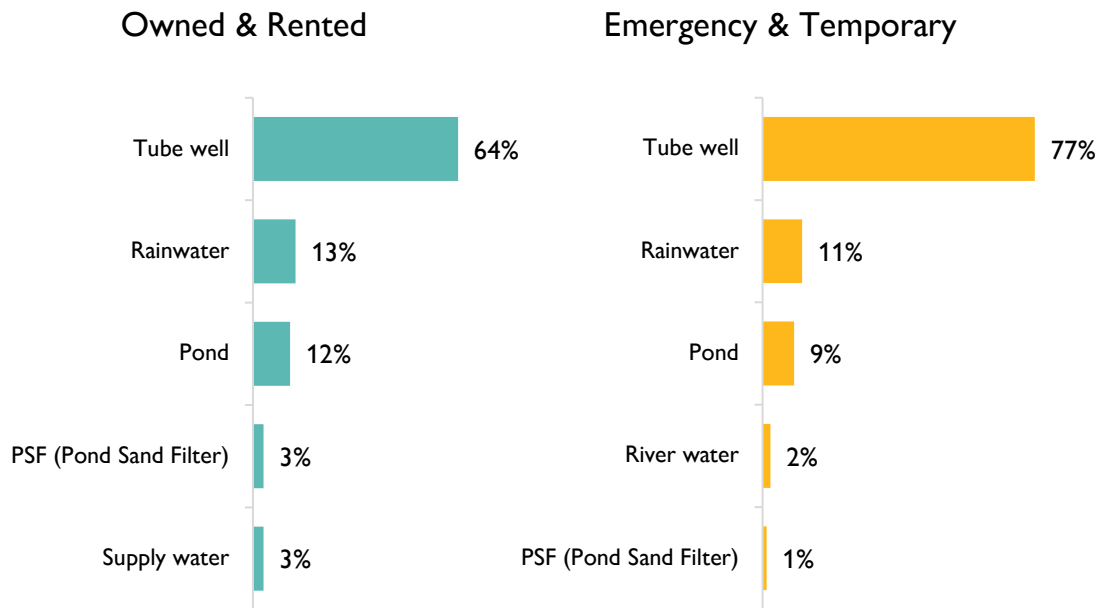

Walls of emergency and temporary shelters are mostly (36%) made of wood, followed by corrugated iron (CI) sheets (28%). Most owned and rented homes had walls made of wood (38%) and CI sheets (35%). CI sheets were the most commonly used material for roofing both for owned and rented shelter households (88%), and emergency and temporary shelter households (69%). It was notable that emergency and temporary households used thatching (27%) for their roofing material.

WASH

MAIN SOURCES OF DRINKING WATER

WATER PURIFICATION

It was notable that on average 94 per cent households do not purify their drinking water before drinking with the reasons for not purifying drinking water varied. Of those living in owned and rented shelters, 88% responded that the water is clean enough and 11% responded that they cannot afford to purify. Of those living in emergency and temporary shelters, 82% responded that the water is clean enough and 18% responded that they cannot afford to purify.

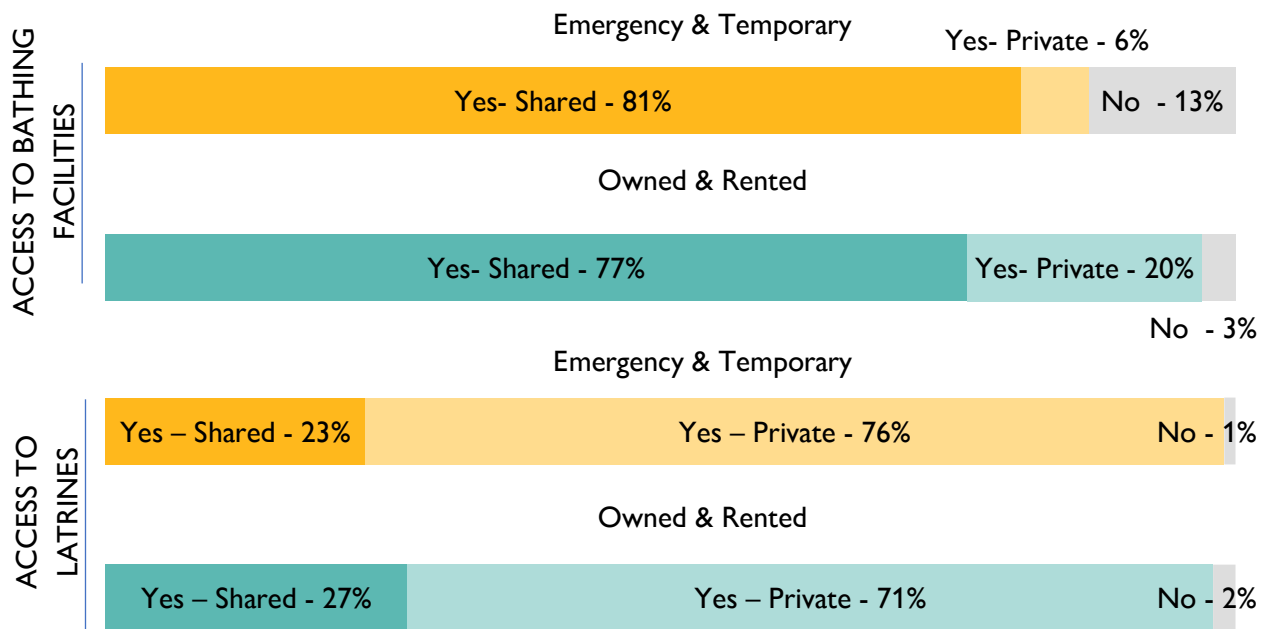

No disaster displaced households living in emergency and temporary shelters said that they had to pay for drinking water monthly. On the other hand, 6% owned and rented shelter households pay an average of BDT 571 monthly for drinking water.

SOURCES OF WATER USED FOR OTHER PURPOSES (BATHING, WASHING CLOTHES, ETC.)

ACCESS TO BATHING FACILITIES AND LATRINES

BATHING FACILITY TYPES

It was found that those who had access to shared bathing areas mostly used ponds (owned and rented, 57%; emergency and temporary 41%), rivers (owned and rented, 33%; emergency and temporary 42%), and tube wells (owned and rented, 9%; emergency and temporary 17%).

LATRINE TYPES

PROTECTION AND SECURITY

SENSE OF SECURITY FOR WOMEN AND CHILDREN

Sixty-nine per cent of emergency and temporary shelter households perceive the safety for women and children to be partially safe to safe, with twenty-seven per cent considering the area to be unsafe. Comparatively, it was found that those who are in owned or rented shelters consider the sense of security to be marginally better.

It was found that none of the latrines and bathing facilities used by HHs in emergency and temporary shelters were segregated for men and women. Bathing areas were seldom attached to households and were often located away from the compounds. No bathing facilities or latrines had doors with locks.

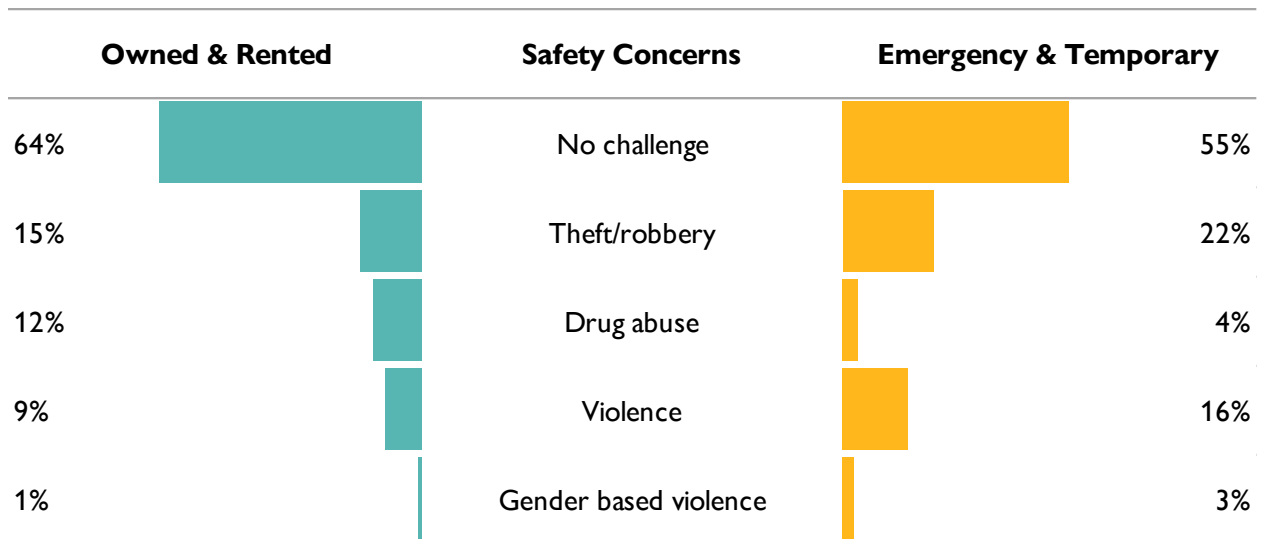

Displaced households on average reported feeling a low sense of security when bathing or when using the latrine facilities. It was noted that those in emergency and temporary houses considered WASH facilities to be more unsafe.

CHALLENGES IN TERMS OF SAFETY AND SECURITY

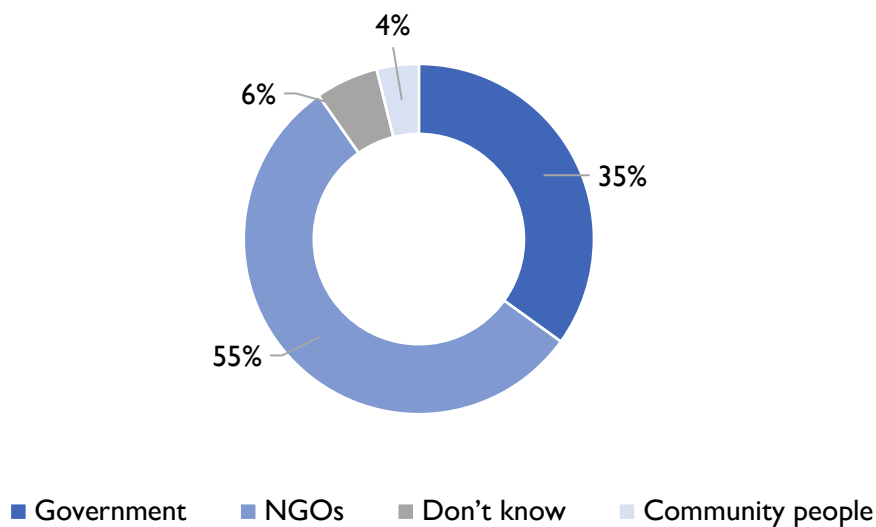

Regarding safety and overall security concerns, the following was related by the disaster displaced households.

ACCESS TO SERVICES AND SUPPORT

SOURCES OF SUPPORT RECEIVED

More than half of the total displaced households that were surveyed (n=210) reported not receiving support either in cash or in kind after becoming displaced. Among those that received support, 55% reported that they received support from NGOs and 35% from the government.

TOP 5 TYPES OF SUPPORT RECEIVED

Households that received support reported the following:

On average, those that received cash reported receiving on average around BDT 13,382 (owned and rented) and BDT 12,523 (emergency and temporary) after becoming displaced.

SAFETY NET PROGRAMMES

Forty-four per cent households in owned and rented shelters and thirty-two per cent households in emergency and temporary shelters said that they are part of safety net programmes in their current location.

Among them, it was reported by four per cent of living in owned and rented shelters and fifteen per cent of emergency and temporary shelters that they had lost access to social safety net programmes after becoming displaced- with Vulnerable Group Feeding (VGF) and old age allowance being the most common programmes that were not accessible.

INTENTIONS TO RETURN

It was found that the majority of disaster displaced households wish to stay at the same location, even those in emergency and temporary housing. The main reasons for this were that there are no assets (48%), no family or connections (51%) and no employment opportunities (1%) left in the place of origin.

CONCLUSION

Although it was assumed displaced population who are currently living in a house/land that they own or have the ability to pay their rent will not be in need of interventions, the study revealed that they believe they have not reached durable solutions and as such, they require humanitarian and developmental assistance. It was found that the effects of displacement are long-lasting and targeted interventions are required in order to support them achieve durable solutions, in particular with WASH, shelter and livelihood.
